

(Download) John Maynard Keynes and the Economy of Trust: The Relevance of the Keynesian Social Thought in a Global Society

John Maynard Keynes and the Economy of Trust: The Relevance of the Keynesian Social Thought in a Global Society

D. Padua

Download PDF / ePub / DOC / audiobook / ebooks*

Download

Read Online

#3983488 in eBooks 2014-11-04 2014-11-04 File Name: B00NBSY14E | File size: 38.Mb

D. Padua : John Maynard Keynes and the Economy of Trust: The Relevance of the Keynesian Social Thought in a Global Society before purchasing it in order to gauge whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised John Maynard Keynes and the Economy of Trust: The Relevance of the Keynesian Social Thought in a Global Society:

1 of 1 people found the following review helpful. I would recommend it. However
By Michael Emmett Brady
This book, in general, is on the right track and is an interesting read. I would recommend it. However, there is a major flaw running through out the entire book. The author believes that J M Keynes and Adam Smith hold opposing views. Actually, their views are quite similar on virtue ethics, trust, uncertainty ,decision making ,banking, speculation, fixed capital,justice etc.Her correct target is not Adam Smith. It is Jeremy Bentham. The book could be rewritten and published again after she has made the necessary revisions.

Why doesn't trust collapse in times of crisis? And when, instead, does it become a driver of growth, generating value? Through a sociological interpretation of the thought of John Maynard Keynes, Padua introduces the innovative concepts of Economy of Trust and Nominal Economy within the context of the 2008 financial crisis.

"This text highlights very convincingly the original sociological approach and innovative concepts of "Economy of trust" and "Nominal economy". I would recommend it to political and economic institutions besides students.' - Carlo Andrea Bollino, Professor of Economics, University of Perugia
About the Author
Donatella Padua has a PhD in Science of Education and is Adjunct Professor of Sociology and of Methods of Analysis of the Complex Society at the University for Foreigners of Perugia, Italy. She is also Scientific Director of the Intelligent Positioning Research Centre, UK. She has a Degree in Business Administration from the University of Rome, La Sapienza, Italy.