Kevin F. McCarthy, Mark Hanson : Post-Katrina Recovery of the Housing Market Along the Mississippi Gulf Coast (Technical Report) before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Post-Katrina Recovery of the Housing Market Along the Mississippi Gulf Coast (Technical Report):

In summer 2006, the Commission on Recovery, Rebuilding, and Renewal asked the RAND Gulf States Policy Institute to describe the state of the pre-Hurricane Katrina housing markets in Mississippi's three coastal counties, to estimate the damage the storm did to their housing markets, to describe the status of the recovery effort, and to identify problems that might inhibit it. This report publishes the findings.

From the Inside Flap This RAND Gulf States Policy Institute report describes the pre-Hurricane Katrina housing markets in Mississippi's three coastal counties, the damage they sustained, current status, and what might inhibit recovery. About the Author Kevin F. McCarthy (Ph.D., Sociology, University of Wisconsin) is a senior social scientist at RAND who has led studies on the arts, immigration, and demographic issues.
