From Routledge : Producing Management Knowledge: Research as practice before purchasing it in order to gauge whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Producing Management Knowledge: Research as practice:

Providing readers with a unique insight into conducting research, this exciting book describes the thought and work processes of researchers as they complete their projects. Engaging and accessible it investigates all the key aspects of this topic and advice on how to conduct interviews, study the everyday life of an organization, and many other standard methods of conducting research. This is not a prescriptive methodology textbook, rather it explores how to approach, think and act in interaction with the empirical field. Comprehensive and accessible, this thought-provoking text shows readers how to develop management investigations skills, and will be invaluable for final year undergraduates, masters and PhD students.

"The contributor's associations to the Stockholm School of Economics gives the book a Northern European perspective and a particular focus on qualitative methods...this book justifies a place on the bookshelf of any serious management researcher." -- T Burgess, The Journal of Operational Research, 2007 'This book justifies a place on the bookshelf of any serious management researcher.' - Journal of Operational Research Society 2007 nbsp;About the AuthorMalardalen University, Sweden Gothenburg University, Sweden
