Sarah Fisher, Susan Shelly : The Complete Idiot's Guide to Personal Finance in Your 40's 50's before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised The Complete Idiot's Guide to Personal Finance in Your 40's 50's:

5 of 5 people found the following review helpful. Not for everyoneBy Storyteller/AuthorThis book assumes you have a dependable income. It also assumes you have already been putting money away. It gives no hope to those who run their own business and have not started saving.0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Five StarsBy BrettDelivered as advertised4 of 5 people found the following review helpful. Timely insightsBy Chris FlynnWhen you reach your mid-fourties you tend to think you've sorted out finances. On a lay-over in Chicago I started flipping through the copy of Complete Idiot's Guide to personal finance that a friend had loaned me. I quickly started to realize that there were a number of key areas regarding personal debt load where I'd not paid enough attention. The timely insights regarding the danger of excessive credit card balances made me realize that my dream of a nice cabin by a lake would have to wait. Much thanks to Sarah Young and Susan Shelly for this easy to understand guide.

So you've got the basics of your personal finances under control (at least -- you've controlled your credit card spending, purchased a house, started saving for retirement) but wait! Now that your kids are growing up and your career is moving along, you're facing a whole new set of personal finance challenges. College, weddings, your son or daughter's first car! How to manage these big expenses and still stay afloat?! And how to deal with unexpected changes such as downsizing or a move?! Help is here. The Complete Idiot's Guide to Personal Finance in Your 40s and 50s is the guide you need to everything from helping your kids get on their feet to buying a second home. Coverage includes: Assessing your own financial position in mid-life -- pluses and minus Being a parent and a blank check -- teaching your kids about money Paying for cars, college, weddings and other big parent expenses Assessing and affording your second home, dream home, or vacation home Keeping your finances in order during a job change -- for the better or worse What to think about if you want to start your own business Divorce and personal finance Thinking of the future -- wills, in-laws, aging parents and more! The basics of investing -- in your 40s and 50s. Where to start or how to progress
