S. Groes : The Making of London: London in Contemporary Literature before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised The Making of London: London in Contemporary Literature:

London has become the focus of a ferocious imaginative energy since the rise of Thatcher. The Making of London analyses the body of work by writers who have committed their writing to the many lives of a city undergoing complex transformations, tracing a major shift in the representation of the capital city.

'Groes has written a work of impressive insight and erudition.' - PD Smith, The Guardian 'Anyone who has read Moorcock, Duffy, Ackroyd or Ballard and wondered how it all fits together will be fascinated and enlightened.' - Euan Ferguson, Time Out London 'The Making of London is fascinating. Refreshingly free of the dryness that mars a lot of critical writing, and it introduced me to a lot of stuff I previously knew nowt about.' - Niall Griffiths 'I am most impressed. The corpus is an interesting and challenging one, and the photography is a brilliant addition.' - Richard Todd, Leiden University 'Groes has produced an impressive book, wide-ranging in its scope, subtle in its analysis and adept at keeping numerous intellectual balls in the air. It will, I have little doubt, become a standard text for students and academics working on 'Contemporary' London literature, and English literature more generally.' - Alex Murray, University of Exeter, UK 'Sebastian Groes' groundbreaking book [is] a highly detailed and meticulous study of [...] the major shifts and developments in London novels since the early 1980s. The Making of London covers a wide scope in terms of authors, narration and critical praxis, and is hence an asset for English literature students and academics alike.' - Sebnem Toplu, Interactions 'Groes's study is thorough and significant for its examination of writers of varied trends and traditions. It proves a most valuable contribution to studies of contemporary writing about London.' - Vanessa Guignery, Eacute;tudes britanniques contemporaines About the Author SEBASTIAN GROES is Lecturer in English Literature at Roehampton University, London, UK.
